

WEATHER GONE WILD

Summer snowstorms. Disastrous flooding.
Devastating wind and ice storms.
Rampaging wildfires. Ruinous drought.

Thursday, October 23, 2014 at 9 pm (9:30 pm NT)
CBC Television's Doc Zone

Please join our conversation
about the documentary:

@dreamfilm
#WeatherGoneWildDoc

Dreamfilm on Facebook

CBC's Doc Zone Page for
WEATHER GONE WILD

Weather Gone Wild is a one-hour documentary about changing the way we live in order to survive a world of superstorms. A stunning succession of extreme weather events, starting with Hurricane Sandy and continuing through back-to-back tornadoes in Oklahoma, an unprecedented deluge in Calgary and flash flooding in Toronto, have brought us collectively to a weather tipping point. In virtually every corner of the globe, intense and unusual weather is becoming the new normal.

Violent, stormy weather is a natural outcome of climate change and a warmer planet. As things heat, they become more volatile. From entire floating neighbourhoods to massive harbour floodgates, cities around the world are trying to engineer their way to a safer future. Everything from farming to the insurance industry to building codes will have to change. How can – and must – the average citizen adapt their life to Weather Gone Wild?

Watch the trailer:

<http://youtu.be/TXjalSkqEyE>

www.dreamfilm.ca